

Clinical Decision Support

These are computerized tools that incorporate information-gathering, as well as monitoring and delivery systems, to ensure optimal decision-making on the part of the treating clinician. They assist physicians and other providers at the point of care to follow evidence-based guidelines and improve healthcare outcomes.