

Interoperability (in general)

The ability of disparate computer systems to easily talk to each other and exchange information. For instance, your practice management system talks to your lab system and your PACS and your EMR and the hospital EMR and ...