

Monday Special: 100 Best Blogs for Children's Health

While strolling through the Web today I found a wonderful list of 100 health blogs for kids. Some of these sites might be a fit for your patients or to post on your website. The blogs are broken down by Health and Wellness, Child Development and Mental Health, Specific Childhood Illnesses and Diseases, Autism Spectrum Disorders, Food Allergies, Vaccines, Dental Health, Childbirth and Breastfeeding, Podcasts, and For or By Professionals.

This list was compiled by and posted on Nursing Assistant Central, which offers readers information on a career in health care as a nursing assistant.

Monday Special: One Big Gift Box with One Big Resource Website for Healthcare Managers

 Okay, this is a big one! This one website is like a big gift box that has another box inside and another box inside, and so on. The health100.com site has links to over 800 of the top English-language health blogs. You can search on site names or search on content. There are clinical blogs, research blogs, hospital blogs, and management blogs. You can find information, opinions, news, webcasts, and podcasts. You can find lawyers, doctors, nurses and patients. And pretty soon, you'll be able to find me!

Happy hunting, and let me know what you find.